Bio

I'm Trinity Boyd, a dedicated and passionate full-time student at Eastern Washington University, planning to graduate this summer with a Bachelor's degree in Visual Communication Design. I'm looking forward to walking at the spring ceremony, celebrating this significant milestone alongside my peers. My journey in higher education began with earning an Associate's degree in General Education from Spokane Community College as a running start student, a foundational experience that has been instrumental in shaping my academic and professional outlook.

In addition to my major, I've been enriching my skills with certifications in User Experience (UX) and Front End Web Development, and I'm particularly excited about diving into the Game Design certification next year. This blend of disciplines reflects my commitment to a well-rounded understanding of the design world.

My work history is as diverse as my academic pursuits. I've honed my leadership and teamwork skills as a manager at Pizza Hut, sharpened my customer service abilities at TJ Maxx, explored culinary arts at Fresh & Foraged, and created sandwiches at Subway. These varied roles have taught me the importance of adaptability, resilience, and a strong work ethic - qualities that I believe are essential in the fast-evolving fields of UX and game design.

Looking ahead, I'm not only focused on completing my current academic goals but also anticipating the possibility of expanding my horizons through a study abroad program in Japan this summer. This opportunity represents not just a chance to immerse myself in a new culture but also to gain unique design perspectives that I can integrate into my future work.

As I navigate my final year at EWU, I'm laser-focused on carving a path in UX and game development/design. This field excites me, and I'm committed to making my mark by embracing challenges and transforming them into solutions. My time managing fast-paced environments and juggling multiple roles has instilled a 'can-do' attitude in me and a readiness to bring this energy and dedication to the world of design and technology.

With a blend of practical experience, academic achievements, and an unwavering passion for design, I'm ready to embark on the next phase of my professional journey, equipped with the skills, knowledge, and drive to succeed in the dynamic world of UX and game design.